ExakTime, a two-decade leader in time and attendance solutions, has launched a new media site for the construction industry.

FUEL—a multimedia news, education, and entertainment hub—features breakthrough construction-related articles on business and technology plus safety, health, and legal tips. Articles, slideshows, and videos are all optimized for both mobile and desktop.

ExakTime's aim is to help boost the construction industry for men and women in construction from supervisors to C-level, and to increase the allure of the trades for Generation Y and beyond.

Visitors can check out fuel.exaktime.com daily or subscribe for weekly highlights of the latest content.
